MANAGEMENT

You know GEICO for insurance.
Get to know us for great careers, too.

After more than two years of military service, Melissa enlisted in a career at GEICO. Four years later, she’s still rising through the ranks after tours in Service, Claims and now as Auto Damage Supervisor.
Start your GEICO career in Auto Damage (AD).

Our AD adjusters work in drive-in, field and GEICO Auto Repair Xpress locations. Additionally, an AD career may take you to customers’ homes, salvage yards and tow facilities. As an AD adjuster, you’ll always be ready to roll up your sleeves and directly assist our customers.

A typical day will include: managing multiple claim files, estimating damage to vehicles involved in accidents, working closely with our customers and auto repair shops, negotiating equitable settlements and issuing payments.

We have a robust training program to prepare you to deliver on GEICO’s promise to be there for our customers.

As an AD Trainee, you’ll first attend Introduction to Auto Damage in your home region before heading to Ashburn, VA, for three weeks of extensive training at our industry-leading facility.

We’ll teach you the mechanics behind assessing minor to major vehicle damage caused by accidents and other disasters. You’ll then return to your home region for additional training and to gain on-the-job experience.

We hire detail-oriented people with:

- A desire to build a career at GEICO
- A proven track record of providing outstanding customer service
- The ability to attend an extensive training program in Ashburn, VA
- An interest in working with vehicles
- Strong multitasking, grammar and computer skills
